

The Matrix - Why They Ban Free Speech

The main reason the ruling elite abhor freedom of speech is because if they allowed it, they would lose their power.

Looking back from the perspective of his more than 40 years of military service, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Admiral Thomas Moorer described the consequences of Jewish power vis-à-vis U.S. policy towards Israel, stating that “I’ve never seen a president – I don’t care who he is – stand up to them [the Israelis]. It just boggles your mind. They always get what they want. The Israelis know what is going on all the time. I got to the point where I wasn’t writing anything down. If the American people understood what a grip those people have got on our government, they would rise up in arms. Our citizens don’t have any idea what goes on.”

He also addressed the 1967 Israeli assault on the USS Liberty, saying “Israel attempted to prevent the Liberty’s radio operators from sending a call for help by jamming American emergency radio channels. [And that] Israeli torpedo boats machine-gunned lifeboats at close range that had been lowered to rescue the most-seriously wounded.” He concluded with “our government put Israel’s interests ahead of our own? If so, Why? Does our government continue to subordinate American interests to Israeli interests?”

If 100% freedom of speech was allowed in media, social media...(very bizarre that this should even be debatable) it would, for example, be obvious to everyone that the current global migrant crisis is a deliberate plot i.e cause/effect - Powerful Western elite foment chaos in poor/middle-income countries that they want to control their resources; fund and support a local puppet military; country becomes even more politically unstable/chaotic; anyone who can flee the poor country flees, to the rich countries; destabilising the rich countries, too...A massive, inhumane racket.

We're going to take out seven countries in 5 years, starting with Iraq, and then Syria, Lebanon, Libya, Somalia, Sudan and, finishing off, Iran.

Several years ago, I became aware of a certain media site that allowed 100% freedom of speech.

Their website allowed public engagements through comments, and also had guests writing opinion articles.

People wrote about many things that happen in the world, but not reported by mainstream media (or mainstream media slant their reporting on these matters).

Most of the writers in the English-language site were from Western countries.

But some writers were from South America, Africa...all over the world.

Over the last 2 years, Israeli spies may have planted cell phone eavesdropping devices near the White House and other "sensitive locations" around Washington, DC, according to a recent explosive report. The Israeli PM denies this.

The devices – commonly known as 'StingRays' – were first discovered by the Department of Homeland Security in 2018, Politico reports. They can trick cell phone towers into revealing location data and other identifying information, as well as the content of phone calls.

They were likely planted to listen in on the communications of President Donald Trump and his closest aides, a former official told Politico.

While it isn't clear whether the eavesdropping operation was successful, a former senior intelligence official said it was "pretty clear that the Israelis were responsible."

The revelation is far from the first of its kind: Israeli spying operations targeting the United States have been a constant nuisance for American intelligence agencies over the decades, with Washington even naming the country as a top espionage threat, according to documents leaked by whistleblower Edward Snowden.

The website was becoming more popular by the day, because of the freedom of speech, and opportunity for visitors to learn about issues that are generally not known by the general public.

Long story short - the website owner later got cold feet.

I don't think he was pressured by anyone to close the site.

From his writings prior to ending political/news/social opinion pieces/discussions, he appeared to become shocked that the problems he thought were only in the West, were actually global...

Each day, there were tens of thousands of people from all continents, writing on the media site about unusual goings-on in their corner of the world.

The Libyan War, brought to you by Bernard-Henri Levy

In his new documentary, "The Oath of Tobruk," Bernard-Henri Levy details how a self-promoting leftist intellectual persuaded a conservative French president to back the Libyan revolt.

Based on the information gathered from the same "knowledgeable individuals", Blumenthal concluded that the French President was interested in Libya's oil, French political and military influence abroad and his personal political career at home. But most importantly, Sarkozy's purpose was to stop Gaddafi's influence in Francophone countries.

"According to these individuals Sarkozy's plans are driven by the following issues:

- 1. A desire to gain a greater share of Libya oil production,*
- 2. Increase French influence in North Africa,*
- 3. Improve his internal political situation in France,*
- 4. Provide the French military with an opportunity to reassert its position in the world,*
- 5. Address the concern of his advisors over Qaddafi's long term plans to supplant France as the dominant power in Francophone Africa".*

President Nicolas Sarkozy's decision to overthrow Muammar Gaddafi was not about "countering Colonel Gaddafi's aggression", "supporting Libyan people" or "protecting a peaceful civilian population".

I think the owner of the site concluded that, "this problem is much bigger than I thought..."

And with that, he decided to switch the site to non-political/news/social issues.

If suddenly, there was total freedom of speech in the whole world, and there was no shadow banning by search engines or social media, there would be Global Political Revolution.

We are living in a "Controlled World", where certain information is hidden from most people, because if it was not hidden from them, the current World Order would collapse.

To put it in another way: Suppose someone owns a radio/TV station:

There are certain things journalists in that media company cannot talk about. There are certain people they cannot interview. And if they did, that radio/TV station would be taken off-air by the authorities, regardless of whether the country is a democracy or not.

That is the "Controlled World" we live in.

However, some of the things that are not allowed to be discussed, are actually criminal acts, including crimes against humanity.

That is, there are powerful entities committing crimes against humanity, and most people in the world do not know about it - because if the media mentioned it, it would be de-licensed.

The world we live in is very strange.

Some call it Fake World.

Others call it the M A T R I X.
